Core Values

Person Centered Planning
Employment support is guided by the job seeker in order to achieve their career aspirations.

Competitive Employment
The job seeker receives the same rate of pay and benefits as other employees doing the same job. Individuals receive their paychecks directly from the employer.

Partnership
Job seekers, employers, and direct service providers determine the individualized strategies for providing support that will assist in career enhancement and ultimately facilitate long-term satisfaction for the job seeker and the employer.

Full Inclusion
When job seekers become employees, the goal is to find inclusion both socially and economically.
Core Values, cont.

Job Search
Timely and appropriate support is provided to achieve successful employment. Job acquisition is the goal of supported employment. While volunteering is valuable, it is not paid employment.

Individualized
Negotiate to meet the unique/specific needs of the employer and skills of the job seeker, one person at a time. One job—one person at a time.

Natural Supports
Employment supports are as unobtrusive as possible and (may) fade over time by building on community support and social capital.

Long-term Support
All stakeholders require long-term support to ensure employment stability is maintained and career enhancement is achieved.

Continuous Quality Improvement
Stakeholders are involved in the evaluation of services for the job seeker, and the service provider implements improvements.

Some Definitions
Customized Employment

A flexible blend of strategies, services, and supports designed to increase employment opportunities for job seekers through negotiating with businesses to meet the needs of both the business and the job seeker.

• http://www.griffinhammis.com/customizedemployment.html

Employment - Supported or Customized

What’s the difference between Supported Employment and Customized Employment?

In theory – nothing

In practice –
  ◦ refocused attention to individuals with significant support needs
  ◦ refocused attention to creativity in developing employment opportunities – e.g. the “customize”
  ◦ refocused attention on the importance of the “assessment” or “discovery”
Employment First

Employment First is a concept to facilitate the full inclusion of people with the most significant disabilities in the workplace and community. Under the Employment First approach, community-based, integrated employment is the first option for employment services for youth and adults with significant disabilities.

This philosophy presumes employability of all people in the community regardless of disability. Components include:

• Being the first and preferred outcome for working-age youth and adults with disabilities, including those with complex and significant disabilities, for whom working in the past has been limited, or has not traditionally occurred,
• Using typical or customized employment techniques to secure membership in the workforce, where employees with disabilities are included on the payroll of a competitive business or industry or are self-employed business owners,
• Where the assigned work tasks offer at least minimum or prevailing wages and benefits,
• And where typical opportunities exist for integration and interactions with co-workers without disabilities, with customers, and/or the general public.

Job Carving

The process of listing the key components of jobs and employment needs to develop a written proposal for an employer on how those needs can be met.

A proposal typically includes language identifying job tasks for increased work efficiencies and the matching of an individual's skills with workplace needs. (e.g., Job Match Analysis)

This process can result in either job restructuring or job creation.
Natural Supports

Support from supervisors and co-workers occurring in the workplace to assist employees with disabilities to perform their jobs, including supports already provided by employers for all employees.

These natural supports may be both formal and informal, and include mentoring, supervision (ongoing feedback on job performance), training (learning a new job skill with a co-worker) and co-workers socializing with employees with disabilities at breaks or after work.

- originate from within rather than from outside the workplace or community system
- are consistent with the culture
- are typically available and/or perceived as usual
- can occur automatically in the workplace, or can be facilitated by job coach

People First Language

People First Language (PFL) represents more respectful, accurate ways of communicating. People with disabilities are not their diagnoses or disabilities; they are people, first.

Aiming to avoid perceived and subconscious dehumanization when discussing people with disabilities, as such forming an aspect of disability etiquette, the basic idea is to impose a sentence structure that names the person first and the condition second, for example "people with disabilities" rather than "disabled people", in order to emphasize that "they are people first". The term people-first language first appears in 1988 as recommended by advocacy groups in the United States.
Examples of People First Language

SAY:

- People with disabilities
- He has a cognitive disability
- She has autism (or a diagnosis of...)
- He has Down syndrome
- She has a physical disability
- He uses a wheelchair

INSTEAD OF:

- The handicapped or disabled
- He’s mentally retarded
- She’s autistic
- He’s Down’s; a Down’s person; mongoloid
- She’s a quadriplegic/is crippled
- He’s confined to/is wheelchair bound

Person Centered Planning

Person Centered Planning is an ongoing problem-solving process in which a person with a disability works with other important people in his or her life to plan for their future. This "person-centered" team meets to identify opportunities for the focus person to develop personal relationships, participate in their community, increase control over their own lives, and develop the skills and abilities needed to achieve these goals.

Person Centered Planning depends on the commitment of a team of individuals who care about the focus person. These individuals take action to make sure that the strategies discussed in planning meetings are implemented.
Systematic Instruction

Systematic Instruction refers to any kind of instructional systems design model or method that: is carefully thought out and designed before activities and lessons are planned; builds upon prior knowledge; and is strategic building from simple to complex. Materials and instruction are organized to follow the logical order of the language. The sequence of the instruction proceeds methodically from the easiest and most basic elements to more difficult and complex material.

Choose Individualized Instructional Strategies:

- Prompts and Cues (e.g., Gestural, Verbal, Model, Physical)
- Explanations and rationales to heighten awareness
- Reinforcements
- Compensatory Strategies (e.g., environment modifications, adaptive equipment)
- Self-monitoring and self-reinforcement

Zero Exclusion

The most important, fundamental principle of supported employment is that everyone is included. With the right job match and the right support, everyone can be employed.

The 2008 UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities "Rights of Persons with Disabilities" recognizes the right to an "opportunity to gain a living by work freely chosen or accepted in a labour market and work environment that is open, inclusive and accessible to people with disabilities."

Discrimination happens when people are stereotyped or treated unjustly based on their actual or perceived differences. Discrimination can be based on age, ability, ethnic background, gender, language, marital status, national ancestry, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, or socio-economic status. Therefore, excluding anyone from employment is discrimination.

Supported employment is about actively facilitating gainful and meaningful employment for job seekers.

Pre-vocational work units, sheltered workshops, long-term volunteering or work experiences that are long term, are not considered job acquisition or supported employment.

Ideally, the percentage of employees with disabilities in the workforce should reflect the percentage of persons who live with disabilities in the community (usually 10% or 1 in 10).
WIOA – Workforce Innovation and Opportunities Act

Vocational Rehabilitation under WIOA

WIOA – Workforce Innovation and Opportunities Act

Competitive integrated employment - The Rehabilitation Act previously used “competitive” employment but never defined. WIOA defines competitive integrated employment as full-time or part-time work at minimum wage or higher, with wages and benefits similar to those w/o disabilities performing the same work, and fully integrated with co-workers without disabilities. Considered the optimal outcome under WIOA.

Customized employment - “competitive integrated employment, for an individual with a significant disability, based on an individualized determination of the strengths, needs, and interests of the individual with a significant disability,” “designed to meet the specific abilities of the individual with a significant disability and the business needs of the employer,” and “carried out through flexible strategies.” As a result, customized employment is now among the available services from public VR nationally.
Vocational Rehabilitation - Cont’d

• Changes in definition of supported employment: The adapted definition makes it clear that supported employment is integrated competitive employment, or an individual working on a short-term basis in an integrated employment setting towards integrated competitive employment. In addition, customized employment is now included within the definition of supported employment. Also, the standard post-employment support services under supported employment have been extended from 18 to 24 months.

• Focus of supported employment state grants on youth: Under WIOA, half of the money that states receive under the supported employment state grants will now have to be used to support youth with the most significant disabilities (up to age 24), and these youth may receive extended services (i.e., ongoing supports to maintain an individual in supported employment) for up to four years. The definition of “youth with the most significant disabilities” in the implementing regulations will be a key issue.

• Technical assistance for post-secondary education: The new law allows the RSA commissioner to fund technical assistance to “better enable individuals with intellectual disabilities and other individuals with disabilities to participate in postsecondary educational experiences and to obtain and retain competitive integrated employment.”

• Role of VR in One-Stop system: WIOA designates certain programs as “core programs” in the workforce development system. Public VR is among those designated as a core program, and as such will continue to be a mandatory member of state and local workforce boards. Other core programs are Adult, Dislocated Worker, and Youth workforce investment programs, the state Employment Service (Wagner-Peyser), and Adult Education and Literacy.

Vocational Rehabilitation - Cont’d

• Changes in performance measures: Under WIOA, the core programs are subject to common indicators of performance. For adults, these include a) entering and retaining employment, b) median earnings, c) obtaining an educational credential (high school diploma, post-secondary credential), d) skill gains via post-secondary education and training, and e) effectiveness in serving employers. These performance measures are a new requirement for state VR programs, and the changes in current VR performance indicators will be a critical implementation issue.

• Funding of One-Stop infrastructure: Under the new law, payment for One-Stop infrastructure and other costs will be determined at the local board level. However, if agreement cannot be reached, the governor will develop the requirements for payment of One-Stop costs by One-Stop partners. Under WIOA, public VR can be required to use a maximum of 0.75% of its funds for One-Stop infrastructure, which will gradually increase to a maximum of 1.5% after five years.

• Increased emphasis on role of general workforce development system: A number of provisions in WIOA emphasize and increase the requirements for the general workforce development system and One-Stop Career Centers to meet the needs of job seekers with disabilities. These include:

• Local workforce development boards will have to ensure that there are sufficient service providers in the local area with expertise in assisting individuals with disabilities with their career and training needs.
Vocational Rehabilitation cont’d

- Increased VR role in transition: Each state’s public VR program 15% of public VR funds must now be used for transition services, specifically pre-employment transition services as defined within the act to include;
  - job exploration counseling, work-based learning, counseling on post-secondary opportunities, workplace readiness training, and training on self-advocacy.

- Limitations on sub-minimum wage: A new section has been added to the Rehabilitation Act, Section 511. It requires (as of 2016) a series of steps before an individual under the age of 24 can be placed in a job paying less than minimum wage (almost all of which are positions with community rehabilitation providers in sheltered workshops or enclaves).

- Requirement for formal cooperative agreement between VR and state Medicaid and IDD agencies

Trial Work Assessment

Trial Work Assessments are used when there is reason to believe that the individual may not be able to benefit from SE services

Required by federal law if VR denies eligibility for the individual

The Rehabilitation Act requires that a trial work assessment be completed to ensure that the individual has been assessed at various work environments

  - Second week/month – Job Coach present only on “difficult” tasks/days
  - Third week/month – Job Coach makes regular spot checks, active training and intervention has been successfully completed
  - Fourth Month – Extended Follow Along – Job Coach stops by work site two times per month

Please realize that for some individuals, - especially those who have a mental health diagnosis – the intervention may need to occur OFF and ON the employment site**

Job Coaching

- Fade Gradually...over Time
- Caution when
  - Job Coach spends little to no time at the job site
  - There is no evidence of any “real” assistance
  - Strategies for employment related issues only involve “counseling” or “talking” to the supported employee

Developing a Task Analysis

- Identify all required materials, tools and equipment
- Each step is one observable behavior
  - resulting in a visible change towards completing the task
- Build in natural cues and compensatory strategies
  - resulting change in one step becomes the natural cue to begin the next step
- Steps are chronologically ordered
- Each step is in narrative form using least number of words: descriptive, precise and avoids ambiguities
  - Words can be used as verbal prompts
- Task is completed as efficiently as possible
- Simplify complex steps
  - Try to eliminate discrimination (i.e., having to determine if a task was completed with good quality), instead build in quality.
    - Remove decisions so task steps are repeatable and standardized
    - For example, “clean entire area in a specific pattern to cover all areas” instead of “clean only dirty areas”.
- Test the task analysis and modify as needed

Fading
Fading is the process in which the job trainer, over a period of several weeks or months, slowly and systematically decreases his or her presence on the job site.

The actual schedule of fading is determined by the client's ability to perform job tasks independently and to maintain a satisfactory level of work performance when the trainer is off-site.

Natural Supports
- Used to help people keep the job once Job Coach has faded
- Provided spontaneously or through facilitation
- Categories include:
  - Training Supports (e.g., Systematic Instruction, Task Analysis, Videos)
  - Organizational Supports (e.g., Schedules, Alarms)
  - Social Supports (e.g., Who and What to do When)

---

Job Stabilization

Occurs when individual is performing job duties independently 80% of the time

Support time should diminish over the length of employment

Retraining or assistance may be needed at times but support should decline over time

Make sure there are strategies in place to help with supports and retraining needs – strategies that will work without the employment staff present

Be leery of an individual “achieving” stabilization within a month of placement, it’s possible but unlikely - either the individual didn’t need SE services – or the individual may under-supported at the worksite.

From APSE SE Competencies

Follow Along
Follow Along is the process of on-going assessment of a client's job performance which begins after the job trainer has faded from the job-site.

Methods of evaluating client progress include written evaluations, periodic on-site visits and telephone contact. These methods allow the job trainer to monitor a client without being on the job-site on a daily basis and can last for an indefinite period of time.

Medicare vs. Medicaid

Medicare

• Federally run program that has the same eligibility standards and coverage rules across all 50 states.

• Entitlement: earned by someone who has paid into the Medicare trust fund through taxes on earned income; it is not needs based nor means tested.

• Coverage involves premiums, copayments and deductibles.

Medicaid

• State-run program designed primarily to help those with low income and little or no resources.

• Needs based/Means tested – Limited Income and Resources

• Coverage is typically free (with some exceptions in some States)
Louisiana Benefits Planning Services (LA BPS)

LA BPS

• How does work affect SSDI and/or SSI benefits?
• Can you work and keep Medicaid or Medicare coverage?
• How work changes other benefits like: Food Stamps, Subsidized Housing, Waiver Services, VA Benefits and Workers Compensation?
• What are Social Security Work Incentives and how can they help?
