

Social Security

Official Social Security Website

SSI Wage Reporting

Reporting Wages for Supplemental Security Income (SSI)

If you receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and you or your deemor (e.g. your ineligible spouse or parent(s) with whom you live) work, then either you or your representative payee must report the gross wages to Social Security. You should consistently report wages during the first six days of the month to help prevent overpayments and underpayments.

Because SSI is a needs-based program for people who are aged, blind, or disabled, the amount you can receive is based, in part, on the income available to you. Generally, the more income available to you, the less the SSI payment will be.

You can report wages by visiting, calling or writing your local Social Security Office. You should ask about our options to use the automated toll-free SSI Telephone Wage Reporting Service or the free SSI Mobile Wage Reporting Smartphone app.

If you want to report wages using our telephone service or Smartphone app, please contact your local Social Security office and speak to one of our representatives.

Sign Up To Receive An E-mail Or Text Message Wage Reporting Reminder

Regardless of which method you choose to report wages, you can sign up online to receive a monthly e-mail or text message wage reporting reminder. To sign up online, use the form on the right side of the page.

If you have any questions about SSI Wage Reporting, please contact us.

Subscription Type

Email

*Email Address

Submit